SHE WANTED TO DIE.

A Prisoner in the City Lockup Hangs Herself in her Cell.

HER STOCKINGS SERVE AS A ROPE.

Lockup-keeper McDermott Cuts her Down just in Time—She Says she will Kill Herself as Soon as she Gets out of Jail, but Wants to See her Husband and Baby First—The Mulvey Case.

Last night Officer West arrested a blonde young woman for being drunk on the street in the Second ward. She was an inmate of Mollie Boyd's house of ill-fame, and said her name was Grace St. Clair, but it was afterwards said she had gone by the name of Virgie Anderson. She was locked up in cell No. 1. Not long after, Night Lockup Keeper John McDermott glanced at the cell, and saw the girl hanging from one of the bars of her cell. She was already nearly strangled, and McDermott took a knife and cut the rope by which she was suspended.

Examination showed that she had taken her stockings, tied them together and twisted them into a rope. When cut down she lay on the floor for a good while and refused to talk. When an INTELLIGENCER reporter saw her later, however, she told him her name and said her home was in Pittsburgh. She said: "I'll kill myself all right yet just as soon as I get out of this trouble and can see my husband and little baby once more."

She said it was all Mollie Boyd's fault that she was drunk and in trouble. Some time ago she called on Chief of Police McNichol, and wanted to be given transportation to Pittsburgh. The chief sent her to County Commissioner McGregor, who refused, however, to buy her a ticket, and she has since been in the Boyd house.

SUSAN MULVEY GUILTY.

The Abortion Case Heard Before Judge Jordan Yesterday.

Yesterday in the criminal court, Judge Jordan on the bench, the case of Mrs. Susan Mulvey, accused of procuring an abortion on Ethel Cooper, and indicted jointly with James Bachmann for that crime, was tried to a jury. Prosecutor Howard and Mr. Post represented the state, and Hon. G. W. Atkinson, Mr. Flick and Col. W. W. Arnett the defense.

Dr. Taylor, who treated the girl after the alleged crime, and Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, her parents, told what they knew about the case, then the girl herself was put on the stand. She told a very circumstantial story of the crime, describing the house in which Mrs. Mulvey lives, and saying Bachmann accompanied her there.

The details of the alleged crime were told very fully by the young woman. The state then put James Bachmann on the stand, and he denied everything she had told connecting him with the abortion. Lieut. Walter Terrill was called to the stand and asked as to statements the accused had made to him about the case, but most of his testimony was ruled out on objection.

Susan Mulvey herself was the only witness for the defense. She denied everything the girl had told, saying she had never seen the girl, and never saw Bachmann but once and then he was on a wagon.

The court room was packed full of people all day, and at the noon recess the crowd was so great in the hall that the large double door into the court room was forced open by the pressure against it, a bolt being broken.

Last night the attendance was even larger than during the day, the audience packing the corridors outside the doors. The argument was short on both sides, and the case was given to the jury about 9:15, and just as the clock struck 10 the jury came into court and rendered a verdict of guilty as charged in the indictment.

The usual motion for a new trial was entered and set for argument, Mrs. Mulvey was remanded in jail and court adjourned.

The case of James Bachmann, indicted for alleged complicity in the same crime, is set for to-day.

The penalty for the offense is three to ten years in the penitentiary.

NANA SLEPT IN A CELL.

The Keeper of a "Fony" House Will Answer to Two Charges To-day.

Last night the house of Nana Moffat, a 16, was visited by Officers Buch, Daun and Haberfield, unannounced, and Mrs. Nana, three other women and one man were put under arrest. The ladies were given a free ride to the city building in the patrol wagon, and were accommodated there with lodgings for the night.

Nana has been the cause of several complaints to the police. She has been accused of playing for big stakes with men she know to have money. Two charges were lodged against her, one of keeping a house of ill fame and one of selling beer without a license. Several days ago Chief McNichol warned her that if the complaints about her did not cease he would compel her to leave town or go to jail, but she was very defiant, and said she was not going to leave Wheeling till she was ready. Her conduct at that interview was the provocation for her arrest last night, and the chief proposes to see that she conducts business within reasonable bounds or not at all. She retained Mr. J. J. Coniff as her attorney, and he had an interview with her last night and afterwards undertook to secure her release until morning, but in vain.

He Wants to Meet Plimmer.

James Bowman, of this city, wants to go against Billy Plimmer, whose company opens at the Grand to-night. Plimmer offers $50 to anybody who will stand up against him for four rounds, and Bowman says he will attempt it. If the match could be made it would draw the biggest crowd that was ever seen in the Grand, and the Wheeling man would have lots of money put up on him on the outside.

The Potters' Benefits.

Last night, at the Grand, the benefit entertainment under the auspices of the striking Wheeling potters was held, and was an immense success, both financially and artistically speaking. The programme printed in Monday's INTELLIGENCER was carried out, greatly to the enjoyment of the large audience. The potters will realize a tidy sum from the performance.

KUNN & CURT.

THE BOLD ROBBER!

That smashed our window Tuesday night and stole the box containing the $25, never made a greater mistake if he supposed that it would effect the holders of keys. We have ordered a duplicate Box and Lock, and the same key will win that would have won had this impatient gentleman of nerve not visited us. We knew that the idea was popular, but hardly thought it necessary to build a cell around it to keep people away. Bring in your keys any time during the last week in April and the holder of the right one will get the $25. In the meantime all purchasers will get a key.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

THE GRAND this evening—Billy Plimmer's company.

The street hands of the board of public works will be paid off to-day.

Not a case showed up for the police court yesterday, the first "whitewash" for a week or so.

JAMES LEONARD, a plain drunk, was locked up by Officer Buch yesterday and Ed Hays, a vag, by Officer Carney.

A HALL was given last evening by the Fulton fire department, in Koch's hall at that place, and it was largely attended and a gay time was had by all.

The Buffet cafe will give an opening lunch this evening from 9:30 to 12 o'clock. The new proprietor, Mr. Larkin, will be on hand to receive his friends.

BILLY PLIMMER, who bested George Dixon, and his specialty company will open an engagement of three nights and a matinee at the Grand this evening, and the mere announcement of this fact will no doubt pack the house to the doors.

VIRGINUS Lodge No. 2, L. O. O. F., will give a select hop at Assembly hall this evening. This is the oldest lodge in the city and next to the oldest in the state. This is its first hop and the arrangements guarantee that it will be one of the most successful and enjoyable on record.
